

Granby Racial Reconciliation (GRR) is committed to the ongoing work of racial reconciliation in and around Granby, CT. As a non-profit relying solely on grants and donations, GRR is deeply appreciative of the financial support we receive from community members and local businesses.

Since our founding after the murder of George Floyd, we've focused on raising awareness and having honest conversations on racial justice in our community. By exploring difficult topics with compassion, we strive to build a culture of tolerance so that Granby can be a great place for everyone.

We've done this by hosting several events each year such as: Courageous Conversations on Race in the Park, a Racial Equity Challenge in collaboration with Food Solutions New England and Nourish My Soul, Racial Justice Vigils, and Dialogues on Race discussions. Our hallmark event each year is Granby Celebrates Juneteenth, a free arts and education festival that celebrates Black culture through music, dance, art, and presentations.

To assist in the work of narrowing the racial opportunity gap, GRR has created the GRR Opportunity Fund. GRR's goal through this fund is to empower more people of color to better their lives and those of their families and communities. Through strategic and targeted fund distribution, the GRR Opportunity Fund actively supports organizations that open doors to new opportunities and eliminate barriers to upward mobility for people of color.

To continue to produce these events and increase the impact of the GRR Opportunity Fund, we need your help. Please consider partnering with us. Donations levels include:
